

06/27/2026:
BARBARIAN
MECHA STARLIGHT

REJECT THE CRUEL.
SUMMON THE LIGHT.
RESCUE THE DREAM.
RIDE TO THE FUTURE.

Sleep paralysis
opened the lucid gate.

I arrived alone
as a barbarian.

For a moment, the strength felt exciting.

Then I saw what
the camp had done.

I could not celebrate cruelty.

I stood against the raiders.

Their giant leader answered.

Big Barbarian had strength I could not match.

Raw muscle
was not enough.

Lucid Light
gave me another edge.

I summoned a giant
barbarian mecha.

The whole camp
became one battle.

The raiders
changed tactics.

They offered every stolen treasure.

Leave us alone,
and never return.

I refused.

The sky became a road home.

The pipes knew who was allowed through.

Barbarians found
only sealed gates.

Villagers rose into safe passage.

Stolen gold followed
them home.

Every village received
what had been taken.

I left the camp
with a warning.

The rescue
was finished.

A horse of starlight came for the next road.

I rode beyond
the barbarian world.

The dream opened
into a superhero base.

Second Brain and I studied AI pet translators.

Could wolves and big cats speak through power armor?

Maybe people should wear the translators too.

If fighters heard the animals, cruelty would be harder to ignore.

A superhero adventure became a question of empathy.