

06/17/2026:
Super Base World

Sleep paralysis opened the lucid gate.

Leon lifted me back into the Storyverse.

For over a year, he had been my headquarters.

STILL, I WONDERED ABOUT THE CLASSIC KIND OF BASE.

SO WE TOURED
THE EMPTY ONES.

NO TROPHIES.
NO COSTUMES.
NO OWNER.

Then we reached Mall World.

An infinite mall
of shared dreamers.

A hidden door waited between ordinary shops.

*Super Base World was every base
at once.*

*Cave. Castle.
Rainforest. Station.
Temple. Moon.*

Enough room for infinite heroes.

The other bases were vacant.

This place felt abandoned by mistake.

Mall World should have had defenders.

Maybe they were already fighting
somewhere else.

Outside, the mall had changed.

Aliens were borrowing people's bodies.

Green skin.
Yellow antennae.
Huge strength.

They did not seem angry. They seemed amused.

Their strength was real.

WHOMP!

Their durability was not.

One touch
sent a body flying.

I woke before I knew what side anyone was on.