06/16/2026: CAT FROG SOUL

Sleep paralysis
opened the lucid gate.

I arrived alone
on a Shellasaur.

The land still felt peaceful.

Then the ground
learned to hunt.

The serpent moved
faster than warning.

Its jaws stretched
around whole homes.

I tried to stay.

Speed beat power.

Stealth beat sight.

The Shellasaurs vanished.

I flew away
because I had to.

From space, I watched the loss.

Then one small shape
pulled me back.

It was the frog puppet.

In other dreams,
it was my soul.

But now
it had no arms.

And now
it had no legs.

Without arms,
my soul could not act.

Without legs,
my soul could not move.

So I built it a new way.

Cat Frog Soul was born.

Speed met speed.

Claws found
the hidden path.

The serpent fell.

What I build myself to be can change what happens next.
