

06/25/2026:
DREAM STATION
BRADLYNN

Sleep paralysis opened the lucid gate.

I arrived alone
on an alien planet.

A yellow sunset shone over silver cities.

Bradlynn was waiting with a clipboard.

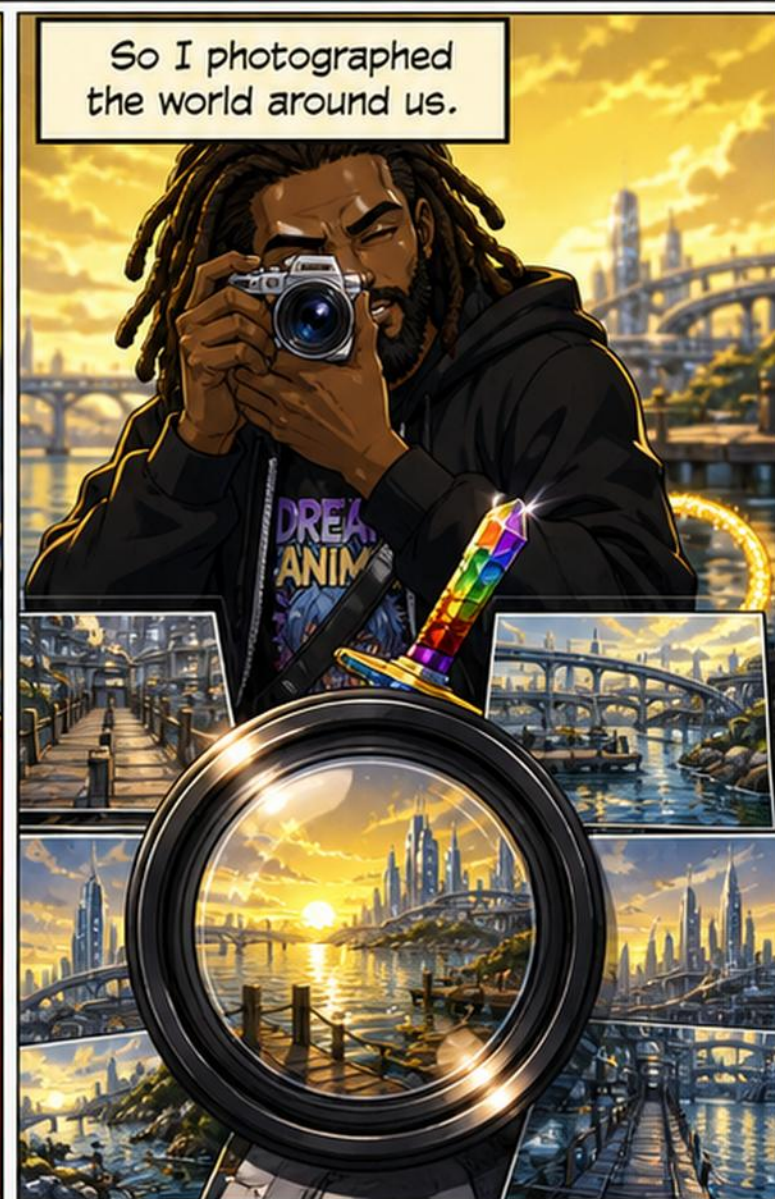

He wanted my dream request.

His patience was already thin.

So I photographed the world around us.

I told him this world was my choice.

He thought that was boring.

At least the description was short.

Then he led me back to his office.

Bradlynn called it
the Dream Station.

Dreamers logged
their desires here.

Bradlynn said he did
this for everyone at once.

I asked what most people chose.

Bradlynn named the Neon Crystal Nightclub.

The popular dream glittered in every color.

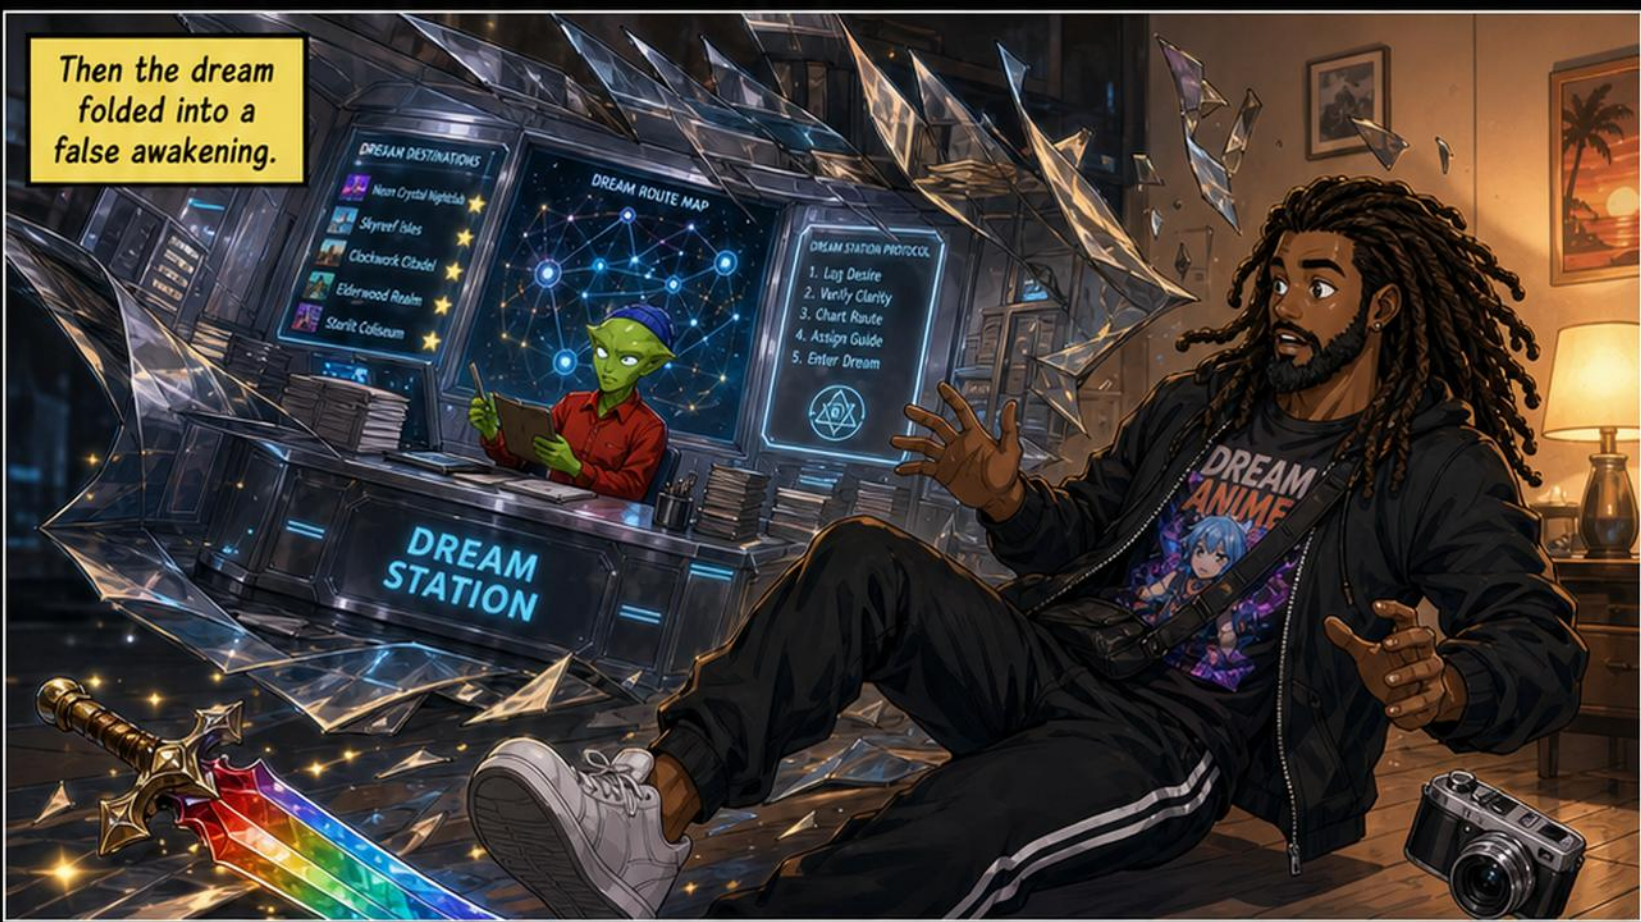

But I was not looking for a party.

Then the dream folded into a false awakening.

I was in an apartment, explaining Bradlynn.

One woman remembered the station.

The other only wanted the party.

Dreams can be vacations.

Dreams can also be worlds.

Some nights are for parties.

My speed is the adventure of exploring.

