

*Sleep paralysis
opened the desert.*

I woke inside the Storyverse alone.

*Dark Lucid Light
was already hunting.*

A corrupted dog
had taught me
this pattern.

So the wolves
did not scare me.

They bit.

The Sword of Life healed.

For a moment,
that was enough.

Then a cowboy rode out of the heat shimmer.

I thought help had arrived.

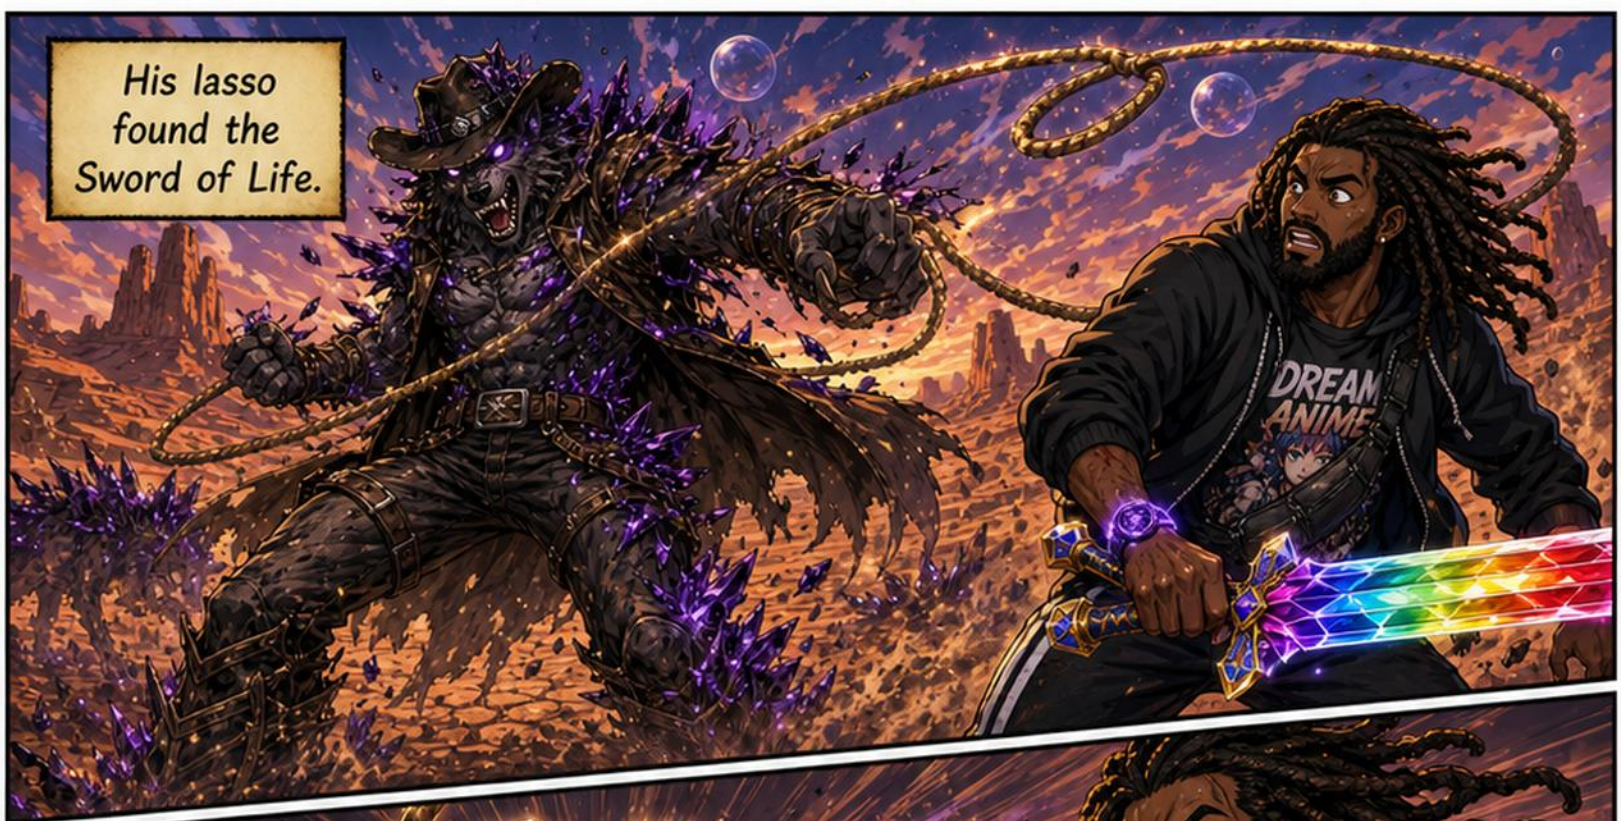

The desert disagreed.

He was the source.

His lasso
found the Sword of Life.

My healing
left with it.

The wolves felt different after that.

This was not just a fight.

It was a robbery.

I still had the watch.

Savannah
answered
first.

The Death
Sword did not kill the wolves.

It killed what
was inside them.

The werewolf
panicked.

He used life
to make a getaway.

So I became speed.

Skelebot
carried me
past the hooves.

Then I became small.

Chipper cut
the legs out
from under the escape.

The sand
remembered
it was sand.

I reclaimed
the Sword
of Life.

